

Contents

|                        |                                                                                                                                     |     |
|------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|
| List of Figures |                                                                                                                                     | vii |
| List of Tables  |                                                                                                                                     | vii |
| Chapter 1              | Abolitions as a Global Experience: An IntroductionHideaki Suzuki                                                         | 1   |
| Chapter 2              | France's Two Emancipations in Comparative ContextSue Peabody                                                             | 25  |
| Chapter 3              | What was Remembered and What was Forgotten in Britain in the Bicentenary of the Abolition of the Slave Trade?Kumie Inose | 50  |
| Chapter 4              | Dutch Attitudes towards Slavery and the Tardy Road to Abolition: The Case of DeshimaIsabel Tanaka-Van Daalen             | 72  |
| Chapter 5              | The Persian Gulf and Britain: The Suppression of the African Slave TradeBehnaz A. Mirzai                                 | 113 |
| Chapter 6              | The End of the Coolie Trade in Southern China: Focus on the Treaty Port of AmoyEi Murakami                               | 130 |

|            |                                                                                                                                        |     |
|------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|
| Chapter 7  | Freedom Across the Water: British Emancipation of Slavery and Maritime Marronage in the Danish West IndiesAmitava Chowdhury | 149 |
| Chapter 8  | The Yūjo Release Act as Emancipation of Slaves in Mid-19th-Century JapanYuriko Yokoyama                              | 161 |
| Chapter 9  | The End of Slavery in French West AfricaMartin A. Klein                                                                     | 199 |
| Chapter 10 | The Abolition of Serfdom in RussiaAlessandro Stanziani                                                                      | 228 |
|            | Contributors                                                                                                                    | 256 |
|            | Bibliography                                                                                                                    | 260 |
|            | Index                                                                                                                           | 298 |