

Contents

List of figures and tables	ix
Foreword to first edition	xv
Preface to first edition	xvii
Preface to second edition	xix
Glossary	xxi
1. The British empire	I
'Informal' empire	5
'Miscellaneous islands'	7
Decolonisation	8
2. Colonial government structure and relations with London	II
Colonies, dominions, protectorates and mandated territories	II
Colonies	II
Dominions	12
Protectorates	13
Mandated territories	15
The colonial government	15
The governor	15
The legislature	16
The executive	18
Judicial establishment	19
Defence	20
Ecclesiastical establishment	21
The relationship between the Colonial Office and the colonies	21
3. Records of colonial governments	23
Locally created records in Colonial Office series	23
FCO 141, Foreign and Commonwealth Office and predecessors:
Records of Former Colonial Administrations: Migrated Archives	25
4. Administration of British colonial affairs before 1801:
the organisation in London	29
The Privy Council and the Board of Trade	29

The secretaries of state	30
Records of the secretaries of state and the Board of Trade	30
Published finding aids	31
Original finding aids	33
5. Administration of the colonies from 1801	39
War and Colonial Department	39
Establishment of the Colonial Office	40
1907: Dominions Division and Crown Colonies Division	42
Mandated territories	43
Subject departments	43
Specialist advisers and advisory committees	45
The Colonial Office Journal	47
The Dominions Office	48
The Commonwealth Relations Office	48
Department of Technical Co-operation and successors	49
Central African Office	50
Commonwealth Office and Foreign and Commonwealth Office	50
6. The records of the Colonial Office	53
Original correspondence	54
What does the original correspondence contain?	57
How the correspondence is arranged	59
‘Case’ volumes	76
Entry books	76
Finding aids	77
Registration of correspondence before 1849	77
Indexes	78
Précis books	82
Registration of original correspondence 1849–1925	92
Indexed registers	93
Registers of non-registered letters	93
How to find the ‘original correspondence’	93
Cross-references in the registers of correspondence	97
Confidential and secret correspondence	101
Printing of correspondence	101
Destroyed papers	104
Circular despatches	104
Original correspondence 1927–51 and its registration	105
File numbers	106
Arrangement of files	106
File covers	106

Registers of correspondence	109
When do you need to use the registers?	111
Secret registers	112
Re-organisation of the Colonial Office in the 20th century and its effects on the arrangement of the records	112
The Dominions Division	112
Subject departments	112
Advisory committees	113
Advisers	113
Geographically arranged correspondence series after 1951	115
Some abbreviations used in the registers of correspondence	115
Printed and statistical material provided by the colonial governments	116
Acts, ordinances and proclamations	118
UK legislation enacted for the colonies or including the colonies	121
Sessional papers	122
Government gazettes	125
‘Miscellanea’	127
Blue books of statistics	127
Shipping returns	130
Newspapers	130
Returns of stipendiary magistrates	132
7. Records of the Dominions Office and Commonwealth Relations Office	133
8. Records of the Commonwealth Office and the Foreign and Commonwealth Office	139
9. Private papers and private office papers relating to colonial affairs held in the records of the Colonial Office and of other government departments	143
10. Maps and plans	145
International boundaries	147
Directorate of Overseas Surveys	151
11. Photographs	153
12. Records of other government departments	155
Admiralty	156
Board of Trade	157
British Council	157
The Cabinet Office	159
Central Office of Information	160

Civil Service Commission	160
Crown agents	161
Empire Marketing Board	161
Foreign Office	163
Home Office	167
Intelligence agencies	167
Special Branch	167
Security Service (MI5)	171
Ministry of Defence	171
Prime Minister's Office	171
Privy Council	171
Treasury	173
War Office	177
 Appendix 1: Records relating to individual dependencies and regions	 179
Appendix 2: Records arranged by subject	311
Appendix 3: Newspapers	337
Appendix 4: The Colonial Office List	343
Appendix 5: Rules for the conduct of correspondence between governors and the Colonial Office	 347
Appendix 6: File registration numbers	357
Appendix 7: Specimen search	363
Appendix 8: Sources for biography and family history	374
Appendix 9: Access to the records and use of online catalogues	382
 Bibliography	 388
Index	396