

CONTENTS

Notes on contributors—vi

Acknowledgements—viii

1	Introduction: looking beyond the state Anna Greenwood	1
2	Crossing the divide: medical missionaries and government service in Uganda, 1897–1940 Yolana Pringle	19
3	The government medical service and British missions in colonial Malawi, c.1891–1940: crucial collaboration, hidden conflicts Markku Hokkanen	39
4	The maintenance of hegemony: the short history of Indian doctors in the Colonial Medical Service, British East Africa Anna Greenwood and Harshad Topiwala	64
5	The Colonial Medical Service and the struggle for control of the Zanzibar Maternity Association, 1918–47 Anna Greenwood	85
6	Elder Dempster and the transport of lunatics in British West Africa Matthew M. Heaton	104
7	Social disease and social science: the intellectual influence of non-medical research on policy and practice in the Colonial Medical Service in Tanganyika and Uganda Shane Doyle	126
8	Cooperation and competition: missions, the colonial state and constructing a health system in colonial Tanganyika Michael Jennings	153

Bibliography—174

Index—193