

Contents

Introduction

1. Empire Tours: Royal travel between colonies and metropolises - Robert Aldrich and Cindy McCreery
2. Royal tour by proxy: The embassy of Sultan Alauddin of Aceh to the Netherlands, 1601-1603 - Jean Gelman Taylor
3. French imperial tours: Napoléon III and Eugénie in Algeria and beyond - Robert Aldrich
4. Something borrowed, something blue: Prince Alfred's precedent in overseas British royal tours, c.1860-1925 - Cindy McCreery
5. Royalty, loyalism, and citizenship in the late nineteenth-century British settler empire - Charles V. Reed
6. The Maharaja of Gondal in Europe in 1883 - Caroline Keen
7. Performing monarchy: The Kaiser and Kaiserin's voyage to the Levant, 1898 - Matthew P. Fitzpatrick
8. Colonial kings in the metropole: The visits to France of King Sisowath (1906) and Emperor Khai Dinh (1922) - Robert Aldrich
9. Tensions of empire and monarchy: The African tour of the Portuguese crown prince in 1907 - Filipa Lowndes Vicente and Inês Vieira Gomes
10. Belgian royals on tour in the Congo (1909-1960) - Guy Vanthemsche

11. Royal symbolism: Crown Prince Hirohito's tour to Europe in 1921 - Elise K. Tipton

12. The Throne behind the Power? Royal tours of 'Africa Italiana' under fascism - Mark Seymour

13. Strained encounters: Royal Indonesian visits to the Dutch court in the early twentieth century - Susie Protschky

14. The 1947 royal tour in Smuts' Raj: South African Indian responses - Hilary Sapire

Index