

CONTENTS

1	Introduction: The Scottish Experience in Asia, c.1700 to the Present: Settlers and Sojourners	1
	T.M. Devine and Angela McCarthy
2	A Scottish Empire of Enterprise in the East, c.1700–1914	23
	T.M. Devine
3	Scottish Orientalists, Administrators and Missions: A Distinctive Scots Approach to Asia?	51
	John M. MacKenzie
4	Scottish Agency Houses in South-East Asia, c.1760–c.1813	75
	George McGilvary
5	Scots and the Imposition of Improvement in South India	97
	Joanna Frew
6	Death or a Pension: Scottish Fortunes at the End of the East India Company, c.1800–57	119
	Ellen Filor

7	Governor J.A. Stewart Mackenzie and the Making of Ceylon	143
	Patrick Peebles
8	Scots and the Coffee Industry in Nineteenth Century Ceylon	163
	T.J. Barron
9	Ceylon: A Scottish Colony?	187
	Angela McCarthy
10	Addicting the Dragon? Jardine, Matheson & Co in the China Opium Trade	213
	T.M. Devine
11	The Shanghai Scottish: Volunteers with Scottish, Imperial and Local Identities, 1914–41	235
	Isabella Jackson
12	Ethnic Associationalism and Networking among the Scots in Asia: A Longitudinal Comparison, c.1870 to the Present	259
	Tanja Bueltmann
13	The Right Kind of Migrants: Scottish Expatriates in Hong Kong Since 1950 and the Promotion of Human Capital	283
	Iain Watson
	Index	309